Beth Troutman, PhD, ABPP, ECMH-E®

IOWA-PCIT

Description of workshop: This workshop is designed for PCIT therapists interested in integrating behavioral and attachment-informed approaches when addressing problems in parent-child interactions. This three-day training explores how attachment theory and behaviorism conceptualize parent-child interactions. It will introduce PCIT therapists to research on attachment and research-based methods of assessing patterns of child-parent attachment. Participants will learn to recognize patterns of secure and insecure attachment and how to incorporate these observations into their PCIT coaching. Therapists who have completed training in PCIT-TF, PCIT International, or PCIT, Inc. protocols meet the criteria to be listed as IOWA-PCIT therapists after completing this workshop.

About the trainer: Beth Troutman, PhD, ABPP, ECMH-E® is an Emeritus Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Iowa Carver College of Medicine. Dr. Troutman's research on attachment, infant mental health, and PCIT has been published in peer-reviewed journals and presented at national and international meetings. She developed IOWA-PCIT, an approach that incorporates attachment theory into PCIT, and has trained hundreds of therapists in IOWA-PCIT. Her book, Integrating Behaviorism and Attachment Theory in Parent Coaching, published in 2015, reviews research on interventions based on attachment theory and behaviorism and how to integrate these approaches clinically. Her book, Attachment-Informed Parent Coaching, published in 2022, discusses how to tailor PCIT coaching based on child-caregiver pattern of attachment and caregiver's attachment state of mind. Her books have been translated into Korean and German.
